NURSE PLAN B WITH CHARITY

10 FREE NURSE PLAN B RESOURCES

You don't have to quit nursing. You just need more options.

Created by Charity Kwartengmaah, MSN, RN

A practical starter bundle for nurses who want to explore additional income streams while continuing their nursing careers.

1. 10 Plan B Income Ideas Every Nurse Should Know

Use these ideas as starting points. Choose one that fits your skills, interests, schedule, and professional scope.

• Create digital products such as guides, checklists, planners, or templates.

• Teach what you know through classes, tutoring, or educational content.

• Offer nursing tutoring for students or new graduates.

• Provide resume and interview preparation services.

• Create healthcare or nursing content for brands and organizations.

• Explore affiliate marketing for products you genuinely use and understand.

• Offer nurse-focused consulting within your experience and qualifications.

• Host online workshops or educational sessions.

• Create nursing templates and practical resources.

• Build a niche online business around a specific audience or problem.

2. 5 Ways Nurses Can Make Money From What They Know

• Turn a repeated explanation into a downloadable guide.

• Tutor nursing students in subjects you understand well.

• Create educational workshops for patients, caregivers, or nurses.

• Build templates, planners, study aids, or checklists.

• Create helpful educational content and develop an audience around your expertise.

3. Nurse Plan B Self-Assessment

• What nursing skills do people regularly ask you about?

• What problem can you explain clearly because of your experience?

• Do you prefer teaching, creating, organizing, selling, or consulting?

• How many hours per week can you realistically give your Plan B?

• Would you rather build a service-based or digital-product-based income stream?

• What is one idea you can test without leaving your nursing job?

4. 10 Digital Products Nurses Can Create

- Nursing study guide
- Shift planner
- New-nurse survival guide
- Report-sheet template
- Interview preparation workbook
- Clinical organization checklist
- Nurse self-care planner
- Patient-education resource
- Nursing school study tracker
- Career-planning workbook

5. 7-Day Nurse Plan B Challenge

• Day 1: Write down three skills you can monetize.

• Day 2: Choose one audience you want to help.

• Day 3: Identify one problem that audience needs solved.

• Day 4: Choose one simple product or service.

• Day 5: Draft your offer and a simple price.

• Day 6: Tell at least three people or post about the problem you solve.

• Day 7: Review the responses and choose your next action.

6. 25 Social Media Hooks for Nurse Entrepreneurs

• Nurses: your paycheck does not have to be your only plan.

• I love nursing, but I also believe in having options.

• A Plan B does not mean you are quitting nursing.

• What skill do you have that someone else would pay to learn?

• Your nursing knowledge can become more than another shift.

• If overtime disappeared tomorrow, what would your Plan B be?

• You can build something small before you build something big.

• Nurses already know how to solve problems under pressure.

• Your experience may be the answer someone else is searching for.

• You do not need another degree to start exploring your ideas.

• One hour a day can become the beginning of something new.

• What would more flexibility mean for your family?

• A side income starts with solving one real problem.

• Stop waiting for the perfect idea. Start with what you know.

• Your first digital product does not have to be complicated.

• Nursing can be your career while your Plan B grows beside it.

• What do coworkers always ask you to help them with?

• Your knowledge has value outside the bedside too.

• A small offer can teach you more than months of overthinking.

• Start before you feel completely ready.

• Your Plan B should fit your life, not exhaust you.

• You already have transferable skills from nursing.

• Teaching what you know can become an income stream.

• Build options before you desperately need options.

• Nurse Plan B is about choice, flexibility, and creating possibilities.

7. First $100 Plan B Workbook

• My first offer/product: _____

• Who it helps: _____

• Problem it solves: _____

• Price: $_____

• How many sales/clients to reach $100: _____

• Where I will tell people about it: _____

• My deadline to launch/test it: _____

• What I learned after my first attempt: _____

8. 10 Things I Wish I Knew Before Building a Plan B

• Start simple.

• Do not try every idea at once.

• Solve a specific problem.

• Your first version does not need to be perfect.

• Consistency matters more than excitement.

• Learn basic marketing.

• Keep your business finances organized.

• Protect your time and energy.

• Listen to real customer feedback.

• Build something that supports your life instead of creating another exhausting job.

9. Nurse Plan B Starter Checklist

• Choose one Plan B idea.

• Define the person you want to help.

• Identify the problem you solve.

• Decide whether you are offering a product or service.

• Create a simple name and description.

• Choose a starting price.

• Create a simple way for people to learn more or buy.

• Share your offer with your audience.

• Track questions and feedback.

• Improve based on what you learn.

10. Which Nurse Side Hustle Fits YOU?

• If you love teaching: tutoring, workshops, courses, educational content.

• If you love writing/creating: ebooks, guides, templates, planners, content creation.

• If you love one-on-one support: consulting, coaching within your scope, resume/interview services.

• If you love systems and organization: templates, planners, workflow resources.

• If you love building an audience: niche content, affiliate marketing, digital products.

• Choose the option that matches your strengths, available time, and the problem you most want to solve.

Your Next Step

Circle the ONE idea in this bundle that feels most realistic for you right now. Give yourself a simple goal: test it before adding another idea.

Nurse Plan B with Charity

You don't have to quit nursing. Build options alongside the career you already have.